

Topic :

Real-time Communication System Powered by AI for Specially Abled

Overview :

Humans are able to recognize body and sign language easily. This is possible due to the combination of vision and synaptic interactions that were formed along brain development . In order to replicate this skill in computers, some problems need to be solved:

Problem Statements:

- To separate objects of interest in images.
- Technology to capture the images.
- Technique of classification must be appropriate.